

BANDITS HOLD UP AGENT IN SUBWAY, ROB STATION SAFE

Masked Marauders Force Ticket
Seller to Lie Down While
They Loot Office.

Police throughout the city were instructed early to-day to watch for six men in an automobile who took part in the hold-up and robbery of Isadore Hirsch, ticket agent at the downtown station of the Lexington Avenue Subway at 18th Street.

Three, who were masked, staged the hold-up, while the other three waited outside in the automobile.

At night, when the station is little used, Hirsch acts as both ticket seller and chopper. There was no one in sight at 10:30 last night when he left the booth and went out to chop the tickets that had accumulated.

When he returned he found the three robbers, each with a drawn revolver, searching the booth. One ordered him to put up his hands.

"Now back into the cage," said another. "Lie down on the floor and keep your mouth shut or we'll kill you."

Hirsch tried to resist, but was thrown to the floor. While one robber kept his foot on Hirsch's chest the two others removed from the open safe a bag containing $180 and also took the $6 in change from the counter. The three warned Hirsch he would be shot if he tried to follow.

"Stay there ten minutes," they ordered, "or you'll get your head blown off the minute you show it on the street."

Hirsch reached the street in time to see his visitors get into the waiting car with three others and speed away.
